
Contents

| | |
|--|------|
| PREFACE | ix |
| ACKNOWLEDGMENTS | xiii |
| Part I. Strengthening Public Service | |
| 1 A Call to Arms: Why the Federal Workforce Must Become a National Priority | 3 |
| 2 The Power of Strategic Human Capital: Lessons from the Private Sector | 40 |
| 3 The People Factor in Government | 61 |
| Part II. Investing in Public Service | |
| 4 Leadership in the Public Sector | 101 |
| 5 Why Organizational Structure Is Important | 115 |
| 6 Achieving Excellence in Human Resources | 135 |
| 7 Training | 173 |
| 8 Managing Performance | 194 |

Part III. Enacting Public Service Reform

| | | |
|-----------|---|-----|
| 9 | A Job for the President: Engaging Stakeholders to Reform Public Service | 221 |
| 10 | Funding the Transition Program | 243 |
| 11 | Concluding Observations on Public Service Reform | 270 |

Appendixes

| | | |
|----------|---|-----|
| A | Survey of College Juniors and Seniors—Attitudes toward Working for the Public and Private Sectors | 279 |
| B | Summary of Laws, Reforms, and Key Demonstration Projects and Test Cases Pertaining to the Civil Service | 290 |
| C | List of Interviewees | 293 |
| D | Sample of Federal Job Announcement | 296 |
| E | The History of Personnel Reform | 300 |
| F | U.S. Government Merit Principles | 318 |
| | NOTES | 321 |
| | INDEX | 347 |
| | THE AUTHORS | 360 |